Application Procedures

Candidates demonstrate their interest in applying by enrolling in FSU's Fulbright Canvas course and completing the pre-application module by Wednesday, June 5th. This course and its documents are only reviewed by FSU fellowship advisors to understand your interests and questions. Once enrolled and completed, candidates will be paired with a fellowship advisor who will support them through the application process.

The second internal deadline is Thursday, June 20th, when a draft of one of the two Fulbright essays is due in the corresponding Canvas module.

Applicants should complete the Fulbright application and submit it online (including transcripts, language evaluation forms, references, letters of affiliation, and supplemental materials) electronically by 3 PM on the campus deadline date (see timeline below).

Each applicant will schedule an interview time when they submit the completed application. Incomplete applications will not be considered by the Florida State University Fulbright Faculty Committee. The 2025-2026 Fulbright online application can be accessed here.
